

Managing Grasshoppers

Written on 04 May 2016.

Grasshopper Forecast

A dry fall and spring means there is the potential for grasshopper issues this spring. Scott Meers, insect management specialist with Alberta Agriculture and Forestry, has the story.

Listen to the Call of Land interview

Grazing Strategies to Help Manage Grasshoppers

Research has shown that putting cattle on pastures too early can affect grasshopper populations. Grant Lastiwka, forage livestock business specialist with Alberta Agriculture and Forestry looks at what happens when the cattle are put out too early.

- Listen to the Call of the Land interview
- Read the Agri-News story

When to Put Cattle out on Pasture

Grant Lastiwka, forage livestock business specialist with Alberta Agriculture and Forestry, discusses his recommendations for putting cattle on pasture.

Listen to the Call of the Land interview >