

Dr. Paul Luimes has been teaching and conducting research at the University of Guelph Ridgetown Campus since 2004. His background has been in dairy cattle nutrition but has been working in sheep nutrition for the past 10 years. He is married to Kathryn and together they have 5 children.